Remote Workforce Security Solutions

As you continue to manage through these unprecedented and evolving times, we want you to know we are here to help. For most organizations, the rapid pivot to remote working has been top of mind as leaders embrace how they will manage and secure their transitions. We also know that bringing in consulting support to help may simply not be possible.

What we know

- COVID-19 sends tens of millions of workers virtual
- Untested remote access strategies and technologies increases the potential for exposure to threats
- Deploying immature or untested Business Continuity and Disaster Recovery plans poses a risk
- The cost of failure is higher under the current circumstances
- Cybercriminals are exploiting these moments of fear and uncertainty

Flexible Incident Response Assistance

Although this is an uncertain time for everyone, mission-critical institutions are under unprecedented pressure due to COVID-19. While your financial and other resources are being directed at maintaining the health and safety of your communities, our goal is to ensure that your organization doesn't fall prey to malicious attacks that can disrupt your ability to continue to safeguard your people. We are here to help by offering our Flexible Incident Response Assistance (Flexible IRA) with no upfront cost to healthcare organizations, educational institutions, and municipalities with mandates for public safety and essential services.

How we can help

- Flexible consumption - no minimum financial commitment, pay-per-use*
- Incident response assistance at pre-arranged rate
- Access to 24/7 Incident Response hotline
- Guaranteed response times for Emergency Incident Response
- Access to an accredited team of seasoned incident responders and researchers
- Access to proprietary purpose-built response technologies enriched with years of attacker and threat group data
